The morning after his unexpected election defeat and notice of resignation as Conservative Party leader, Prime Minister Stephen Harper waves farewell to a gathering of Alberta friends and volunteers at the Calgary airport as he boards the 2015 campaign jet to return to Ottawa and hand the reins of government over to prime minister-designate Justin Trudeau.

Didsbury didn't tender for fire hall

BY FRANK DABBS
 MVP Staff

Didsbury council did not tender the $4-million general contract for its fire hall, Mountain View County reeve Bruce Beattie said Oct. 21.

The county is a $1.75-million financial partner in the project but not a management partner, he said.

Didsbury approached the county with a plan for a $5 million or $6 million project, Beattie explained.

That was too rich for the county, which decided on a $1.75-million contribution.

"Anything above that Didsbury had to pay," Beattie said.

The town reduced the budget to $4 million including the county's share.

The county has been consulted on some decisions, for example, it was consulted before project manager Ron Vogel was hired, said Beattie.

"Duncan Milne (Division 3 councillor) and I get regular progress updates on the project at the Didsbury and district fire advisory committee," said Beattie.

However the decision to proceed without tendering the project was Didsbury's, and as a financial partner Mountain View County did not play a role in that, Beattie said.

The relationship is analogous to a joint venture in the oil and gas sector when a company drills a well and has financial joint venture partners who do not participate in the management of the drilling and completion of the well, Beattie agreed.

At the Didsbury town council meeting on March 17, 2015 Roy Brown, then the town's chief administrative officer, said he exchanged emails with his Mountain View County counterpart Tony Martens on March 16 and both agreed in principle that the plans for the fire hall were acceptable and agreed that the architect should be informed to go ahead and get the drawings finalized for tender.

Once the fire services and co-ownership agreements were ratified by both councils documents could be prepared to go to tender, Brown said.

But no tendering process ever took place.

Didsbury town council asked its administration Oct. 13 to report on the fire hall tendering process after three trades contractors raised questions during the gallery question period at council's regular meeting.

Simmer reminisced about growing up in Terrace Bay, a pulp and paper mill town on the north shore of Lake Superior, in the 1960s.

"It was smaller than Didsbury – maybe 1,200 or 2,000 people, Simmer said.

"It made me the person that I still am," he said.

As his career drew to a close, Simmer won the Bill Masterton Trophy for his persistence and dedication to hockey.

Simmer scored 50 goals in 51 games in 1981, narrowly missing an NHL benchmark of 50 goals in 50 games. However he had a high-efficiency shot, with a lifetime 32.75 per cent goal-scoring pace (32.75 goals for every 100 shots on net).

This is an NHL record.

Simmer told his business audience that teamwork and cooperation by its citizens are able to make a small town a special place.

After the dinner, chamber president Barbara Neufeld said "we were reminded of how lucky we are to live in such a close-knit community."

"Didsbury's small town lifestyle demands honesty, transparency, integrity and accountability," she said. "Businesses strive to meet these requirements every day and on this one day they receive the recognition they deserve."

Milne ponders next political step

The day after his first campaign and his first time as a voter, Pirate Party candidate Scott Milne is pondering his next political commitment.

Milne will run again in the next election, unless his education takes him out of the country.

In an interview Oct. 20, he said he's reached the top of what he can do in his party without getting involved in its national leadership.

So he will explore that with his colleagues.

Milne also wants to gather 100 young men and women in the Red Deer-Mountain View constituency to help others overcome the obstacles that face would-be candidates.

"This would be a multi-party group, he said.

"I'd like to be more involved in politics. I have become passionate," he said. "I worked hard in the campaign, I had fun and I learned a lot," Milne said.

He admitted that if a person had said six months ago he'd be a candidate, he would not have agreed.

"I am an introvert. It was out of character for me to do something this public."

It was relatively easy for him to pay the $1,000 Elections Canada registration fee himself as he had the money.

He also received donations so had a few hundred dollars in his election account.

His biggest difficulty was with lead times to prepare election materials; for example, he did not have lawn signs although he could have afforded them.

His group of 100 could help candidates obtain the signatures they need to register as electors.

"I had about 200 because you can expect some to be rejected, but that was my biggest obstacle," Milne said.

A group organized to help new candidates could assist with fundraising and organizational details such as finding a financial agent and an auditor, he said.

During the campaign, Milne found Libertarian candidate James Walper when he needed information about the Coffee with Candidates evening at the Didsbury Public Library.

His sister Emily attended the Olds and District Chamber of Commerce election forum with him, met Liberal candidate Chandra Kastern and volunteered for her campaign.

Milne thinks that obliging other candidates is respectful and democratic.

He was treated with the same respect by Elections Canada staff at the Didsbury Memorial Centre on election day.

As well as being a registered candidate, 18-year-old Milne was also a first-time voter.

When he went after school to vote, he hit a speed bump when he did not have a piece of identification with his address.

The returning officer made alternative arrangements that took time but allowed Milne to vote.

"I value people," he said during the campaign.

"People are the only thing that should matter in politics, and all political choices should be based on how they affect people."

The most important thing Milne hopes for from the Trudeau government is electoral reform.

He advocates some type of proportional representation or a mixed system of first past the post and proportional representation.

"There should be no wasted vote," Milne said.

The morning coffee caucus at JD's restaurant is skeptical about a Trudeau government but has adopted a 'wait and see' attitude. They agree that the result of the Oct. 19 federal election is bad news for NDP Premier Rachel Notley.

Didsbury's political panel: skeptical but wait and see

BY FRANK DABBS
MVP Staff

Didsbury's coffee shop caucus has members who intensely dislike Justin Trudeau, but said at its Oct. 23 session it is skeptical about the prime minister-designate but will "wait and see" before it passes judgment.

Their biggest fear is that Trudeau isn't telling the truth about his intentions and plans.

Trudeau led his party to victory in the federal election Oct. 19, winning 184 House of Commons seats while the Conservatives captured 99 and the NDP held on to only 44 ridings.

The informal group of retired farmers, which numbers from 10 to 15, meets every morning at JD's Place Restaurant.

Some didn't want to be quoted by name, but agreed to their opinions being reported as members of the group.

To a man, they hold Red Deer-Mountain View MP Earl Dreeshen in high regard, and trust him as a fellow farmer. They think Prime Minister Stephen Harper has done a good job.

However, Harper may have remained in office for one election too many, they agreed. And they do not completely understand why he was so authoritarian and controlling.

Also to a man, they doubt that Trudeau is up to the job of running a national government, although acknowledge that he had to work harder than his father did in 1968 to win this election.

"The country was more or less handed to Trudeau senior," said one.

His son had to work for his victory - although the Liberals were helped by negative attacks on Trudeau by the Conservatives that left them uneasy.

They also asked questions about Trudeau's presence on the international stage as a younger man whose career as a drama teacher does not equip him for a role in foreign affairs equal to that of Prime Minister Harper.

"What about agriculture?" one asked. "Who will (Trudeau) appoint as the minister?

"Agriculture is how he will be judged here," he added.

Trudeau will not pick fights with Alberta and expect him to avoid the confrontations that marked his father's relationship with the province, the caucus agreed.

They didn't offer opinions about the oilsands file, but are curious.

And they are interested in Trudeau's relationship with Saskatchewan Premier Brad Wall and Christy Clark of B.C.

One politician who can take on comfort from the election outcome is Alberta Premier Rachel Notley the caucus said.

"(NDP leader) Thomas Mulcair wanted to ride on her coattails, but she just sat on them," said a member.

The NDP only retained its seat in Alberta with the re-election of Linda Duncan in Edmonton-Strathcona, while the Liberals picked up two seats in Edmonton and two in Calgary.

"It looks more like the NDP will be a one-term government," he said.

The coffee caucus is concerned that with the defeat of the Harper government the town is represented in the House of Commons and the Alberta legislature by Opposition MLA Nathan Cooper and Opposition MP Earl Dreeshen.

This leaves the town without direct access to either senior level of government, they observed.

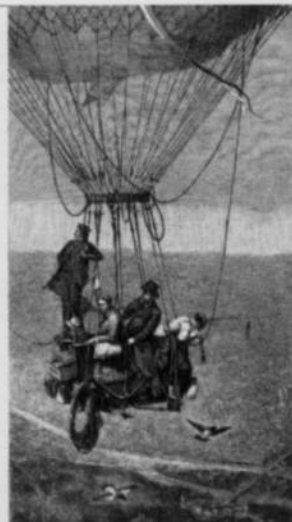

The thing they fear the most is that Trudeau will forget his campaign promises and "turn out to be a government just like we've had in the past."

Police briefs

Break-in attempted

An attempted break-in happened recently in Didsbury.

A woman was at work around 11 a.m. on Oct. 15 when she was notified by her alarm company that the alarm was going off at her residence in Didsbury.

A contractor had been there doing renovations so she figured it was him, but after calling him he said he had already left the residence.

She drove home and noticed the back door had been pried open and was left open so she called the RCMP.

The suspect or suspects didn't enter the house and police said they likely took off when the alarm sounded.

Police believe the house was targeted because the contractor had been there for a few weeks and the suspect or suspects were likely after their tools and were waiting for them to leave before breaking in.

The homeowner has two cats and was thankful they didn't get outside through the open door.

Stolen vehicle destroyed

Didsbury RCMP officers recently recovered a stolen vehicle they believe was purposely destroyed.

Around 11 a.m. on Oct. 17 near Rge. Rd. 10 and Twp. Rd. 314 a driver saw a vehicle upside down in a field and reported it to the RCMP.

Officers attended the scene and realized the vehicle, a 2004 black F350, had been stolen out of Airdrie the night before.

Police say the driver drove the vehicle to the area until it ran out of gas and then purposely rolled the vehicle to try and get rid of any evidence.

"They put it in gear, wrapped the seatbelt around the steering wheel and somehow put something on the gas pedal to give it gas," said Const. Keith Gill.

He said the truck then hit the ditch and rolled in the field.

"It completely destroyed the vehicle, enough to the point where we really have no suitable evidence inside," he said.

Officers do have video surveillance of the vehicle going through the Tim Hortons drive-thru in Didsbury that morning, where they also used a credit card that was inside the vehicle.

Police said the driver is a man approximately 30 years old.

"Thankfully there was nobody playing in the farmer's field because the vehicle went quite a ways before it finally hit the ditch and rolled," he said.

Trucks stolen

A 2001 Dodge Ram was stolen while it was parked at the Didsbury hospital on Oct. 21 around 5 a.m.

Police say the owner of the vehicle said it was locked and there was a 12-gauge shotgun, hunting knives and bear spray in the backseat.

It's a white truck and the licence plate is MUX790.

Meanwhile, another vehicle was stolen from the Fountain Tire parking lot in Didsbury that same day around 3:30 p.m.

The truck is a gold F350 and it was at Fountain Tire because mechanical work was going to be done to it.

The keys were not inside the vehicle but police say F350s made in 2000-2012 are targeted because they are easy to steal.

Gas siphoned

Gas was recently siphoned from a vehicle in Carstairs.

A man told police on Oct. 18 the gas cap was removed from his vehicle and diesel fuel had been siphoned from the tank.

His vehicle was parked on 9th Avenue.

Meanwhile, diesel fuel was also siphoned from two machines near Water Valley on Oct. 19.

The machines, which belong to Coleman Forest Products, were located about two kilometres west of Highway 579 and about 600 litres of fuel was reported stolen.

Licence plate stolen

A licence plate was stolen off a utility trailer on 23rd Avenue in Didsbury on Oct. 17.

The plate is 5AX668 and the owner of the trailer didn't notice it was missing for about a week.

'Mad mitten knitter' honoured as Shepherd Leader

BY FRANK DABBS

Del Ryan has knit hundreds of mittens for cold hands that she's never clasped and for schoolchildren that she'll never know.

"I'm Didsbury's mad mitten knitter," she chuckled.

She has knitted mittens for Calgary Catholic School District students from less fortunate families for many years.

The Calgary Catholic Community of Caring Foundation will honour her work when she is named a Shepherd Leader as a woman "who models the qualities of shepherd leadership."

Ryan will receive the recognition on Faith Day, Nov. 2, at a luncheon in Calgary at the Telus Convention Centre.

The award puts Ryan in stellar company with such leaders as former NHL player Sheldon Kennedy who was named last year's Shepherd Leader because of his work as founder of the Sheldon Kennedy Child Advocacy Centre.

Ryan, now retired, is well known as a former cashier at AG Foods.

For 28 years she was a typesetter at the Didsbury Pioneer newspaper, forerunner to the Didsbury Review.

Marty Overguard, for 38 years a teacher and vice-principal at Didsbury High School, said Oct. 23 that he knows first hand the value of Ryan's mittens.

"We (at Didsbury High School) were able to call on the Lions for many years to help us give warm winter wear to a student who we saw come to school in bitter winter weather with just a fall jacket," Overguard said.

Didsbury plans a haunted week

BY FRANK DABBS
MVP Staff

Three days of Halloween celebrations will haunt Didsbury schools, the pool and streets with a festival of events, and the weather forecast is promising for trick-or-treating on Saturday night.

The party begins at the Train Station Oct. 27 with the Didsbury Neighbourhood Place Spooktacular Halloween party from 10 a.m. to noon.

Weekend events begin with the Ross Ford School annual costume parade and assembly on the 30th at 12:45 p.m.

A Halloween swim-in movie night starts with a showing of Halloween Town for six- to 12-year-olds from 5 to 7 p.m., followed by Jaws for ages 13 and older from 7 to 9 p.m.

The movies are shown at poolside. The deep end is closed and the kids swim and watch the movies. The usual $4.50 admission applies.

At Didsbury High School from 6 to 9 p.m. the students host Haunted Halls with carnival games and prizes. Families are invited and there is a $5 admission charge.

Didsbury children and young people hit the streets to trick-or-treat on Saturday night and the long-range weather forecast at press time was for a clear, cool evening.

However this is autumn in Alberta and the weather can be - haunting.

The town distributed Halloween safety tips for trick-or-treating with utility bills in October.

Didsbury's pride is its people

October has been a month to celebrate Didsbury's winning people.

The Mountainview Colts were undefeated 10 games into the regular season.

The Didsbury Dragons advanced to the semifinals of the Mountain View 9-man Football League.

Michelle Pochapsky is having a breakout year on the women's hockey team at MacEwan University.

The Didsbury and District Chamber of Commerce celebrated three winners - Pine & Ivy Flowers, Mountain View Arts Society and AG Foods - at its Small Business Week awards banquet.

Donna Munro on the staff of the Didsbury Municipal Library won the Individual/Agency Citation Award from the Alberta Therapeutic Association for the Music and Memory program with dementia patients.

Del Ryan, Didsbury's self-described "mad mitten knitter" is being recognized as a Shepherd Leader by the Calgary Catholic Caring Community for her work in providing mittens for less fortunate children in the Calgary

Catholic School District.

The teachers at Ross Ford elementary, Westglen middle school and Didsbury High School have developed a continuum of primary and secondary education that makes a young student's school journey seamless.

Elsewhere in this week's paper is a post-election story about Didsbury High School student Scott Milne who was both a first-time voter and a candidate in the federal election.

His passion for a vision of multi-partisan politics in which candidates oblige each other while they compete for votes on the strength of their ideas is singular.

We have an extended family of volunteer firefighters who are often first at the scene of a calamity when training, discipline and mutual trust take over until police and paramedics arrive.

We have a similar family of paramedics who cannot carry equipment for every contingency in their ambulances, but who have the experience and compassion to deliver emergency medicine.

We have an RCMP commander who has engaged the whole community, including municipal peace officers, to cooperate in enforcing the law.

We have more than our share of visual artists and writers and more than our share of brilliant business owners and managers.

We have a remarkable mayor.

Rick Mousseau's cultural upbringing as an Ojibwa in southern Manitoba is expressed in the eagle feather at his council table seat.

Many aboriginals elected to European-invented political legislatures have taken the particular strength that holding an eagle feather brings to a person engaging in a second culture.

In the tradition of a good First Nations elder, Mayor Mousseau waits for everyone at the council table to speak on an issue before he does.

That is easy to take as a weakness if you judge Mayor Mousseau by rules of adversarial political processes.

But it is a particular kind of strength to let council reach a decision in a consensual political process in which the mayor does not need to exercise power.

Bouquet for Aquafit at Didsbury pool

I have been going to the Didsbury pool for Aquafit classes to improve my mobility and muscle tone after several surgeries.

My family doctor, my surgeon and myself are extremely happy with the results of the Aquafit exercises.

The Didsbury pool provides a very welcoming variety of water programs for every age, accommodating mothers and fathers with babies to seniors. The staff is exceptional, providing a safe atmosphere and an extended sociability of holistic activities in a welcoming atmosphere of family comradeship.

It is an anticipated joy to attend my Aquafit exercises. Shawn Ritter is our instructor. His energetic and upbeat pace of exercises is fun. He provides a varied and very thorough program and we enjoy the benefits of it all.

We are one of several groups of people who travel more or less half an hour to attend these exercises. Therefore, the pool is well supported by Didsbury and surrounding area.

Thank you Didsbury pool for your extremely efficient staff, and Shawn for providing a friendly, safe and welcoming atmosphere to a wide area of grateful people.

Chief electoral officer thanks election workers

I would like to take this opportunity to thank the more than 230,000 Canadians who contributed to the successful delivery of the 42nd general election.

Once again, Canadians were willing to take time from their busy lives, making personal and professional sacrifices to work long hours to ensure their fellow citizens could exercise their democratic right to vote and receive the election results without delay following the close of the polls. I am overwhelmed by the exceptional professionalism and dedication our election workers have demonstrated in serving Canadian electors, often in very challenging circumstances.

Some three million more Canadians voted at this federal general election than at the 2011 election, resulting in the highest voter turnout in more than 20 years. There was a remarkable level of voter activity throughout the election, which in some instances resulted in wait times at both the advance polls and on election day. Our election workers provided the best service possible to their friends and neighbours in communities across our great land - for that is the true strength of our electoral process: Canadians working hard to make it possible for their fellow Canadians to choose the elected officials who will represent them in the House of Commons.

There will be time in the coming weeks and months to review our electoral procedures and consider ways they could be modernized for future elections. For now, our dedicated election workers should take great pride in their accomplishments and important contributions to our society. I know that all Canadians join me in thanking them for their excellent work in the service of democracy.

Raising awareness about school bus safety

BY KRISTINE JEAN
MVP Staff

With the school year well underway school bus safety is once again in the spotlight.

Chinook's Edge School Division, Red Deer Catholic Regional Schools and Prairie Bus Lines Ltd. joined members of the RCMP in promoting school bus safety during a safety check stop in Didsbury on Oct. 20.

It was held in conjunction with School Bus Safety Awareness Week, which ran from Oct. 19 to 23.

During the check stop, school board officials were handing out yellow bags with school bus safety information and important tips to remember when driving during the school year.

Officials said drivers are required to stop about 20 metres behind a school bus and 20 metres in front of a school bus when the lights are flashing.

School buses in Alberta transport close to 250,000 students twice a day. In Alberta, passing a school bus when the red lights are flashing can result in a $543 fine and six demerit points.

Moving progressively into the future by enhancing our community and quality of life, while respecting our history.

Colts stumble then recover

BY FRANK DABBS
MVP Staff

Led by a four-goal game from Clay Murray, the Airdrie Thunder broke the Mountainview Colts' winning streak with a 7 to 1 victory in a mid-week game at the Memorial Complex Oct. 21.

However, the Colts recovered on the weekend, beating the Strathmore Wheatland Kings Oct. 24 in Strathmore by a convincing 7 to 4 margin.

The Colts closed the weekend play with an 11-10 winning record and will play the Three Hills Thrashers Oct. 28 and the Okotoks Bisons Oct. 31. Both games are at the Didsbury Memorial Complex.

In the loss against Airdrie, the Colts were out-checked, out-hustled, out-passed and stymied by the almost-perfect goaltending of Kade Taplin who handled 45 of 46 shots, and his goalposts, which made four saves.

The Colts outshot Airdrie 46 to 36, but could not find the back of the net.

Their game was more notable for sloppy passing, lethargic checking and miscues that set up several Airdrie two-on-one and three-on-two rushes on the Colts net.

The Thunder leapt into the lead with three goals in the first period, the opener two minutes and 40 seconds into the game scored by Clay Murray, followed by a marker from Carter Hill at the 10-minute mark and a goal by Gavin Klein at 14:20.

Airdrie extended the lead to 5-0 in the second period with two more goals scored by Clay Murray.

Colts coach Gord Olsen pulled the game's starting goalie Jake Carlson after the fourth Airdrie goal on the 14 shots Carlson faced. Thomas Della Siega allowed three goals on 22 shots in the remaining half of the game.

Murray scored his fourth goal six minutes into the third period.

The Colts' sole goal of the game came from Jacob Vander Zaag on a power play midway through the third period.

Gavin Klein scored the final Airdrie goal with six minutes remaining.

After the embarrassing loss at home, the Colts recovered at Strathmore, scoring the first three goals in the game in the first eight minutes of the first period.

Goalie Jake Carlson stopped 23 of 27 shots on goal to win the game and erase the fans' memory of him being pulled in the Airdrie game.

Rookie Evan Ingram notched two goals to lead the scoring for the Colts.

The first period markers came from Jacob Vander Zaag, Clinton Armitage and Austin Pedersen. Strathmore responded when Blake Bishop scored in the final seconds of the first period.

Mountainview Colts player Benjamin Strautman attempts to score on the Airdrie Thunder goaltender during the teams' game at the Didsbury Memorial Arena on Oct. 21. The Thunder won the game 7 to 1.

Noel West/MVP Staff

A pretty Mountainview goal by Evan Ingram with assists from Vander Zaag and Jack Vergouwen in the opening minute of the second period, and a Strathmore goal from Tyler Rivest again in the final seconds of the period made the score 4 to 2 in favour of the Colts.

Strathmore narrowed the gap to 4-3 when Jacob Bracko scored a short-handed goal to open scoring in the third period.

Mountainview pulled ahead 5-3 when Nicholas Miluch found the back of the Strathmore net.

Hayden Vanderploeg responded for the Wheatland Kings a minute later, but the fourth goal for Strathmore was the final one.

Ryan Klinck and Evan Ingram's second goal ended the Colts scoring and stitched up the 7 to 4 final score.

The Colts have a commanding 22-point first-place lead in the northern division of the Heritage Junior B hockey league, but Red Deer in second place with 17 points and Airdrie in third with 16, have each played one fewer game than Didsbury.

After a fast start to the season with 13 games in the October schedule, the Colts play three home and three away games in November and four home and three away contests in December.

The real challenge to supremacy in the northern division faces the Colts in January with eight games on the road and only two at home. The regular season ends with a home game against Blackfalds.

The Didsbury Car Club has experienced another very successful year as hosts of the Annual Show and Shine.

We were fortunate to have the weather on our side, and the Show and Shine this past year proved to be the most successful we have seen in Didsbury.

The Club, in the past year, has taken the direction of raising funds towards the Suicide Awareness Program. This is also proving to be a success. Our fundraisers included a Cruz/Poker Run, and a Drive-in Movie night.

The Club is hosting their Annual General Meeting on Thursday, November 12th, 7:30 P.M. at the Didsbury Train Station. The Agenda will include the elections for The Executive Board and the Board of Directors.

Everyone is welcome to attend, and we encourage the public to become Members. To be eligible to be nominated, the nominee must be a Club member for one full year and be in good standing with the Club. To be eligible to vote, the person voting must be a Club member. Memberships will be available at the door before the meeting. Refreshments to follow after the meeting.

Didsbury Dragon Nils Hanie lunges across the goal line for a touchdown in the second quarter of the Dragons' semifinal 66-13 victory over the Sundre Bisons. In the fourth quarter, Hanie suffered a serious ankle injury and will be sidelined for the Mountain View 9-Man Football League final against Innisfail.

Dragons defeat Sundre to advance to finals

BY FRANK DABBS
MVP Staff

The Didsbury Dragons handily defeated the Sundre Bisons 66 to 13 in the Mountain View 9-Man Football League semifinal to advance to the final Oct. 31 against Innisfail.

It was a costly victory for Didsbury. With their active roster already reduced by injuries to 12 men, offensive end and defensive linebacker Nils Hanie suffered a broken ankle late in the game.

"It was a clean tackle," Didsbury coach Mike Lefebvre said of Hanie's injury.

"It was just one of those things that happens in football," he said.

The injury delayed the game while paramedics responded to the football field, asking that Hanie not be helped to the sideline so that they could stabilize the ankle before lifting him onto a gurney for transport in the ambulance to the hospital.

His brother, quarterback Jonas Hanie is playing with a gimpy shoulder and sat out some of the second half of the game.

Without Hanie in the Didsbury lineup, the Innisfail Cyclones can claim favoured status in the league final.

David Aebersold led the Dragons' scoring against Sundre with four touchdowns, including an interception and a convert.

Jonas Hanie scored a touchdown on a quarterback keeper and Nils Hanie added a touchdown and convert before his ankle injury.

Kris Bell had an interception and a touchdown on the day. He injured his wrist but says he will be ready for Innisfail.

And offensive end Delva DeBruyn scored his first touchdown as a Didsbury Dragon on a pass from quarterback Hanie.

Cam Reimer scored Sundre's only two touchdowns including a kickoff return to open the second quarter.

The Cyclones finished the season with an unbeaten record of four wins. Didsbury took second place with three wins and a loss to the Cyclones.

Sundre beat the Stratmore Badgers and the Carstairs Tigers but lost to the Dragons and the Cyclones to nail down third place.

The Badgers won their game with Carstairs, ended the year with a 1 and 3 losing record, but their fourth-place finish allowed them to advance to the playoffs against the Cyclones.

The Carstairs Tigers had a winless season with four losses.

In the other semifinal game Oct. 24, the Cyclones powered past the Badgers and will face the Dragons in Innisfail on Halloween afternoon.

Extra time for college board to find new president

Olds College (OC) has a bit of a breather before it has to find another president for the institution.

Tom Thompson, president of the college, has agreed to extend his current contract, slated to expire in December 2016, by another six months. He has been at the college for 14 years.

A request to extend that contract came from the college's board of governors.

"The board wanted

Thompson for the additional time to lead and execute the visionary Global Agribusiness Commons at Olds College, as well as to launch a tremendously ambitious comprehensive fundraising campaign prior to his departure," a news release says.

OC board chair Bob Clark is pleased by the decision.

visionary leaders in all of Campus Alberta and indeed in Canada," he says. "Our goal, plainly stated, is to find the best to replace the best in order to continue our considerable momentum."

The board has been working with Greg Fieger, a partner with Conroy Ross Partners, Regina to lead the creation of the "Presidential Profile" of the next leader for Olds College.

Conroy Ross Partners will also head up the executive search process, which will begin in the fall of 2016.

"The task for Conroy Ross Partners and the executive search sub-committee of the board will be to source best in class candidates internally, nationally and internationally," the news release says.

"They are not looking for a traditional academic manager. The profile that has been already created by the board in concert with Fieger describes a visionary, marketer, community and economic development builder, financier and an innovator in higher education."

PATTERSON, Harold Thomas

It is with great sadness and a profound sense of loss that we announce the peaceful passing of Harold Thomas (Tom) Patterson on Wednesday, October 21, 2015 at the age of 93 years. He will be lovingly remembered by his daughter Ruth (Gerard) his nieces and nephews Darlene, Karen, Robert(Sandi), Dave, Emily(Ken), Rick(Linda), Betty(Doug), Bev and their families as well as he will also be dearly missed by all of our extended family and many friends.

Tom was born in Benton Alberta on September 26, 1922 to Agnes and Thomas Patterson. He was the second of two children. He joined the Air Force at the age of 20 and in 1944 was stationed in Northern Ireland as an engine repair man for the flying boats that patrolled the Atlantic Ocean for enemy submarines. Upon returning home from the war he married his beloved wife Arlene and continued to farm until their retirement in 2000 when they moved to Didsbury, AB.

During his lifetime Tom was a strong supporter of his community and was dearly loved and well respected by all his family and friends. Heartfelt thanks to all the Home Care Nurses and Staff at Chinook Winds Lodge who made the lodge his home and treated him so wonderfully during his time there.

who passed away October 8, 2014

We thought of you today,
 But that is nothing new,
 We thought of you yesterday,
 And will tomorrow too.
 We think of you in silence,
 And make no outward show,
 For what it meant to lose you,
 Only those who love you know.
 Remembering you is easy,
 We do it everyday.
 It is the heartache of losing you,
 That will never go away.
 Though your smile is gone forever,
 And your hands we cannot touch,
 Still we have so many memories,
 Of the Dad we love so much.
 Your memory is our keepsake,
